I was very happy when I saw information of recruitment for internship position.

I'm IT student and I have studied at University of Engineering and Technology – Viet Nam national University for three years. Just one more years, I will graduate. So I want to find a internship job to improve my skill in factual environment.

I want to manipulate my knowledge to company environment. So I will have comparison between things that was studied at University and things what company needed. And I will supplement knowledge that I lack Beside I also want to have many factual experience and try myself in professional environment.

If I'm success in apply for this position, I'll try my best to complete the work
