COVER LATTER

Dir: Company Framgia

12/2015

I am always loved the creativity and explore study new technologies in the field of website design and programming, I believe I am the ideal candidate for the position of HTML Coder that the company is currently advertised on website VietnamWorks

I graduated in Mathematics from Hanoi University of Science and Technology and HDSE of FPT Aptech in 2005. After many years of experience across various large and small projects I hope I can participate in the project complete creating innovative and exciting company.

As someone who has team spirit and sense of responsibility, especially respect for deadlines, I can work well with the team and always set the highest goals and fulfill their assigned tasks. While the ability to communicate my English is not good, but I believe that if working in a good environment as your company, I will sharpen and fix your weaknesses.

With the ability and personality on, I really believe I can take good HTML Coder position at your company. I look forward to your company can arrange for me a recent interview so that I can present more detail its capabilities for the position.

Thanks & best regards
